

Hello from Parkview!

Last week saw our first full week of school for the year (except for Kindergarten, which only had a half day all week). The teachers were anxious to get started, most of the kids were glad to be back, and it seemed to be a positive experience all the way around.

As the year is now under way, FLOCK (our parent group) has already started going through the names of those who filled out the Volunteer Sheets. As you know, we require parents to volunteer 35 hours in a school year toward helping in various ways at the school or with school-related events. FLOCK is tracking the hours throughout the year—just log your hours on the clipboard in our office. If you filled out the Volunteer Sheet, you will be receiving a call before too long to get you plugged in; if you did not fill out a sheet, please stop by our office and pick one up from Mrs. Voss.

The remainder of this month's Letter from the Principal is a pdf file from ACSI (Association of Christian Schools, International) on the value of Christian education. The attachment is worth your time to read and I would encourage you to do so. We are blessed to have the opportunity for Christian education in this country and we at Parkview are honored to be given the task of educating the students from a biblical worldview. Our commitment is to serve in love and excellence.

I wish you a great remaining month of September!

Mr. Jim Apker
